

I object to the decision Sinclair Broadcasting has made to force their stations to replace their regular programming to air an anti-Kerry documentary. This is being done just days before the presidential election to dispatch a political message against a major political candidate - Sen. John Kerry. Sinclair is a large company owning many broadcasting stations. They are planning to use their free-of-charge airwaves to broadcast their political agenda and subsequently to influence the public vote.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
